

WOMEN'S NOVICE COACH VACANCY 2023/24

St Anne's Boat Club is now looking for an encouraging and knowledgeable coach to work with our novices over the next academic year (and beyond!). As part of a highly successful and friendly boat club, we'd love to find someone able to enhance the technique and enthusiasm of our less experienced rowers and coxes, so that they can continue to parallel the success of our senior women's boat. SABC is friendly, welcoming, and based on boathouse island (Boathouse Island, Oxford, OX1 4PP, United Kingdom) on the Isis river with great dedication and sense of community. For more information about our club please visit <https://stannesboatclub.weebly.com>. As one of Oxford's biggest colleges, we expect a large pool of new rowers in the next academic year, and hope they'll fall in love with the sport and with the boat club just as we have.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Coach one land and two water-based sessions per week
- Coach regattas, both Oxford based and external
- Communicate with captains and other coaches to allow progression through the boat club, and to arrange crews for outings and races
- Teach rowing and coxing to complete novices
- Develop the technique of less experienced members of the boat club

ESSENTIAL CRITERIA

- Available during term times from October 2023 to June 2024
- Available weekday mornings and weekends for coaching and regattas
- Able to provide technical and individual feedback to both rowers and coxes
- Have previous coaching experience

DESIRABLE CRITERIA

- Familiar with Oxford rowing, particularly the Isis and bumps racing
- Able to remain encouraging during outings
- Available for pre-season training camps
- Ability to drive a launch, re-rig boats, and adjust equipment
- Available to coach both on the Isis and at Godstow
- Experience coxing and/or training novice coxes

Pay is given per session and will be competitive and negotiable based on experience. To apply, please send your CV to kate.mcloughlin@st-annes.ox.ac.uk (Women's Co-Captain). Applications close on September 20th.
